AeroTech Receives CE Certificates for White Lightning™, Blue Thunder™ and Redline™ Motors and Reload Kits

In April of this year AeroTech announced that it had received a partial renewal of its CE approved rocket motors and reload kits, but the official certificates had not yet been generated.

We are pleased to announce that the CE marking certificates for "White Lightning", "Blue Thunder" and "Redline" have finally been received.

Effective immediately, our European Distributor Spacotec GmbH is able to deliver products out of said product lines from their central stock, while restocking orders are being processed by AeroTech. For the remaining AeroTech propellants, testing results and paperwork have been processed by the notified body and are currently under final review and certificate generation is pending.

We expect to receive the CE marking certificates for all AeroTech and Quest products by the end of September 2019 at the latest.

Interested European customers should contact Spacotec GmbH for more information and to place orders at j.thuring@spacetecrocketry.com.
